Military Childrens Collaborative Group has expanded into the state of Georgia!

Qwynn Galloway-Salazar, an Army Veteran has been serving the needs of Service Members, Veterans and their Families since 2005 after her support on the Global War on Terrorism (GWOT). In 2007, she realized her passion was advocating for those with the Visible and Invisible Wounds of War. She has had the opportunity to work closely with Service Members/Veterans who suffer from Post-Traumatic Stress, Traumatic Brain Injury, Amputations, severe Illnesses and injuries and their Families. Qwynn's newest initiative is to raise community awareness of the specific needs of military-connected children. Through her current role with the Military Children's Collaborative Group, she work's to educate communities, educators, parents, and various other professionals working with military children and their Families.

Qwynn is the spouse of a combat Veteran and a mother of two daughters. Mrs. Galloway-Salazar has a master's degree in professional counseling and is a board member of Operation Georgia Cares—A Veterans Initiative, NAMI Georgia's Veterans Advisory Council, Georgia's Jail Diversion and Trauma Recovery for Veterans Program,

We at MCCG connected Rick with USC CIR School of Social Work Internship, along with the all Military Branches -Youth & Family coordinators, and regional organizations with services supporting military children and their families.

We are happy to announce that Qwynn Galloway Salazar is representing the South East region.

Qwynn has already begun advocating for military connected children. She has engaged the State of Georgia, Association of School Counselors in Georgia, and the Georgia State National Guard. She shared the MCCG blue print plan and successes working within the State of California. Beginning with advocacy, MCCG resources and methods to connect local community resources to support the needs of military connected children enrolled in school.

Remember September 11, is Patriot Day. Honor our youngest Patriots, our military connected children.
